NEW WORK FOR THE OLD BOWERY MISSION

New York, Nov. 22.—At the old Bowery Mission, for more than four decades the leading lower East Side haven for destitute drunkards, lecture classes in elementary sociology and philosophy and educational work among the ghetto's women and children are taking the place of or supplementing the work done there heretofore for men without homes or food.

"Floes and eels," as the shelter and food are referred to by the old-time disciples of the Bowery, are no longer to be the chief solace afforded to "neophytes" and "bums" by this famous old institution.

Directors of the famous place have acknowledged time for more than feeling and sheltering from night to night a horde of "floaters" and "boes."

Since its establishment forty-one years ago Bowery Mission workers have been rushed with seemingly ceaseless efforts to find food and sleeping rooms for long lines of those classed as down and out. Now, they say, the advent of prohibition has brought opportunity to lift their heads.

John G. Hallmond, mission superintendent, and Anson C. Baker, secretary, outlined the new situation. "There's still plenty of 'mooch' on the Bowery," they said, "and plenty of drinkers to care for. But it's harder to get than it used to be."

"We have almost as many men to look after as ever. When the saloon went it did not take with it drugs and the like. But a far greater percentage of them are sober, clear-eyed and clear-brained. We are increasing our educational work among the old timers whose heads used to be so steeped in liquor that they could retain nothing but the address of the Mission."

"We now have more opportunity to look around, a chance for educational work among women, and to start at the bottom with the rising generation."

Sixty-year-old "Christian John" Wentz, a follower of the Mission for half his life, and still hanging on, added his word to that of Mr. Hallmond and Mr. Baker.

"The bum business is dead," he said. "But if a guy had told me ten years ago that the day would come when there wasn't enough booze and cookies on the Bowery to keep this place busy, and that the Mission would decide to go to taking care of women and children, I'd have said he'd been 'coking' himself or hitting the pipe."

MIDSHIPMEN PROMISE TO OBEY ALL REGULATIONS

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 22.—Coincidental with the ending of the troubled conditions at St. John's College today, the members of the first class of midshipmen (seniors) at the naval academy through the class president, have given a promise to Superintendent Scammon that they will obey the regulations of the institution to the best of their ability.

Admiral Scammon, promptly took steps to lift the order segregating the members of the "rule" or fourth class as a precaution against any further cases of hazing.

Superintendent Scammon issued the following statement:

"The midshipmen of the first class have voluntarily made the following promise to the superintendent:

"The first class at no time has questioned the authority of the superintendent. We will obey the regulations to the best of our ability and furthermore the petty officers and officers of the first class of the regiment will do their utmost to carry out the regulations especially that regarding hazing as defined by law."

This is the action the superintendent demanded of the first class before he took the recent drastic steps to enforce obedience to the law concerning hazing.

Mrs. Capitola Burgess is caring for Mrs. John Ridd, who is ill at her home. Monday night, Nov. 15, a business meeting of the church was held in the lecture room, when it was voted to accept the resignation of Rev. Francis M. Mitchell, and a committee was appointed to express to him the sentiments of the church regarding his pastorate here and the following was submitted:

Montville, Conn., Nov. 17, 1920. In accepting the resignation of Rev. Francis M. Mitchell as pastor of the Union Baptist church of Montville we would express to him our appreciation and gratitude for his untiring efforts to deepen the spiritual life of the church.

During the past year sickness and death have visited many homes in the community, and upon all occasions both Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have been prompt in calling and giving comfort and consolation.

By their courtesy, refinement and spirituality they have won the regard of the entire community and cordial wishes for their success wherever their lot may be cast.

The annual business meeting of the Community Library association of Montville was held Thursday night in the library. Robert Patton, the president, presided, and reports were read from Secretary C. E. Flaherty, Treasurer W. W. Lyman, Librarian Mrs. M. A. Jeffers, entertainment committee, George A. Chagnon, chairman, soliciting committee, Mrs. A. J. Huggard, chairman. A vote of thanks was given Frederick L. Dennis of New York and Mrs. Ralph H. Meier of Uncasville for the gift of books to the Palmer Bros. Co. for a book case; to Robert C. Burchard for the use of the room for a library, and to the energetic women who have been the means of raising the funds. To Mrs. Jeffers the association presented $50 in appreciation of her services as librarian throughout the year.

The report of the librarian follows: Community library opened its doors for the circulation of books Nov. 20, 1919. At that time we were equipped with the ownership of one bookcase and the loan of another, a library table and 175 books, the gift of the Palmer Bros. Co.; the use of a large electric light room donated by Robert C. Burchard and warmed by a wood fire, the fuel given by interested townspeople. Since that time we have acquired by gift and by purchase two more bookcases and books to the number of 927, less than 100 of which have been bought. These books have been given largely by people in the community, though some have found their way here from the extreme end of New London county and from as far distant as New York. Of this collection, 597 are adult fiction, there are 257 junior books and 173 books of reference, history, poems, and a variety of subjects. Within a few weeks we have received a set of Britannica Encyclopedia, bound in brown morocco, the gift of Frederick L. Dennis of New York; also from Mrs. Ralph H. Meier of Uncasville 40 sixth bound volumes, mostly fiction. The library has been opened 93 times. During the year 312 persons have applied for the privilege of taking books. The total circulation for the year was 4,854. There were 544 books sent out in March. The largest number taken out one day was 84. The average circulation for the year was 49.

The money received from fines has been used for the various supplies needed by the librarian in cataloging, republishing and in purchasing articles for the staff. For these accounts, including postage orders and postage, there has been paid out $15.11. Cash on hand Nov. 17, 1920, $18.72.

East Hartford.—Miss Edna M. B. K. of P. entertained about 350 members of the order and the grand officers of Connecticut Saturday.

NEWFOUNDLAND FEELS LOWER PRICES FOR FISH

St. John's, N. F., Nov. 22.—The Newfoundland government is taking active steps with a view to preventing serious losses to the fishermen of the colony as a result of the prevailing low prices for fish. Sir Alexander Harris, governor of Newfoundland, conferred today with William Conker, minister of fisheries and acting premier and James Arthur Paddon, manager of the Bank of Montreal, regarding a proposition that the government should guarantee purchases of codfish.

A great amount of fish caught off the Labrador coast during the last season had been sold at very low prices, and the government is now taking steps to prevent such a recurrence. This is explained as largely due to the fact that because of differences in exchange rates and other abnormal conditions there has been a very poor market in the Mediterranean ports which ordinarily absorb most of the Labrador product.

CLAIMS THAT EDUCATION MUST BE "POPULARIZED"

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 22.—No state should allow its boys and girls to start life with anything less than a high school education, Governor William L. Harding of Iowa, declared in a address here tonight before the convention of the New York Teachers' Association.

"The slogan of the country should be 'All must be educated,'" said Governor Harding, "and that education must be popularized."

"The public school has come nearer to turning out a 100 per cent. perfect product than any other institution of which I have knowledge," said the governor.

"We have outgrown the old doctrine in this country—that education is free, the new slogan is—'All must be educated.'"
